I. Call to Order

The Education Committee was called to order by Chair Garlock at 10:04 am.

II. Potential Basic ABMDI Training

Garlock noted that she had a few members reach out to her and ask if there was a way that they could get online basic training for ABMDI. The IACME is a good opportunity but also difficult when you have a small agency. Garlock found there were some classes that are completely online and it could be an option for those that can't attend in person. IACME only offers their advanced track online. The group discussed and agreed to discuss at a future meeting.

III. 2023 ISACC Annual Conference and Future Conferences

The Education Committee would like to host their own basic ABMDI training over three conferences. This is something the association has done in the past and would like to offer again for those that wish to recertify or those that are new the coroner's office.

Rinehart mentioned that he would be happy to reach out to John Fudenberg at IACME to see if there was someone he might recommend for the basic ABMDI training. The group decided to meet again in April and discuss the options from John. If there aren't any viable presenters, the committee will divide up the coursework and take turns teaching sections of the training.

Garlock mentioned that she has a copy of the book from the last training and can scan it in and email to the members of the committee for their review.

The next meeting will take place on Thursday, April 20 at 10:00 am MT.
